Subject: Docket # 00P-1211/CP1
Genetically-Engineered Foods

Dear Ms. Henney,

As a concerned individual I am writing to urge you to support regulations to insure that new genetically-engineered foods and food products containing genetically-engineered ingredients are not released for consumption until they are tested to insure their long-term safety.

All GE foods at present on the market should be labeled so that consumers can decide whether or not they wish to eat them. I realize that there are differences of opinion about the safety of GE foods, but no comprehensive studies have been made to settle the argument. These studies should be started at once.

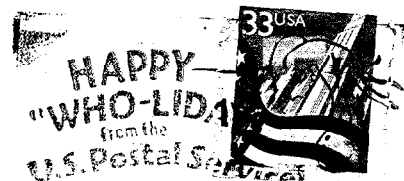

Yours sincerely,

00P-1211
